TRIAL OF ILSE IS STARTED IN SAN FRANCISCO

Brisk Flurries of Retaliation Liven Session; Dynamite Causes Excitement.

SAN FRANCISCO, Jan. 27. (AP)—Brisk flurries of retaliation between prosecuting and defense attorneys, in the Henry A. Ilse and Thomas Boyle trial, and gasps of astonishment from spectators as sticks of dynamite rattled in the hands of witnesses, livened an otherwise dull procedure today.

Ilse and Boyle charged with shipping a trunk containing 153 sticks of dynamite to the Cowles Publishing company, Spokane, remained expressionless as I. M. Golden, assistant district attorney, extracted from five witnesses allegedly damaging testimony.

Opening the morning session, Golden called Lieutenant James C. Malley, chief of the San Francisco prevention detail, who identified a receipt given Ilse by a local company, for money said by Ilse for recharging the battery which is said to have been in the trunk opened by newspapermen in the Cowles building.

Much Debate.

Considerable debate followed, introduced by a surprise statement Malley produced, alleged to have been made by Ilse before Malloy and the district attorney's staff. Ilse was quoted as saying he incurred the wrath of the "Spokane County Democratic association" by refusing to dynamite the Cowles building last March 8. Letters from the Washington superior judge and the Spokane district attorney, relating to insanity charges against Ilse, were not submitted as exhibits thereby hampering the defense from attacking it.

O. G. Peterson, owner of a powder manufacturing company here, testified he sold Ilse 50 pounds of dynamite sticks and delivered it to him on the municipal wharf. He said he was positive Ilse was the man who accepted delivery.

Louis Gamba, transfer company employe, told how he dispatched a truck to Ilse's residence and picked up the trunk. Gamba said the trunk was owned by a man named "Davis," the name Ilse gave the truck driver, Golden later established.

Joseph Axen, transfer company driver, who called for the trunk, said he was not positive Ilse was the man who helped him load the trunk. "He looks like the man," Axen said.

Through Thomas Knox, Southern Pacific railroad clerk, Golden traced the trunk from the resident number where Ilse is alleged to have resided, to the ferry across the bay, to the Oakland pier, and to Portland, Ore., where Boyle is alleged to have rechecked it to Seattle. Knox identified a valuation claim check he said had been signed by a "Mike Owen" the name under which Ilse was alleged to have purchased the dynamite from Peterson. Women members of the jury and spectators shrank visibly as Golden extracted two sticks of dynamite. Golden fumbled the sticks. The noise echoed through the courtroom and caused considerable gasping for breath.

DEMOCRATS STUDY NEW TAXATION PLAN

Authors Said to Have Followed Governor's Recommendations.

BOISE, Jan. 27. (AP)—The joint democratic caucus convened today to continue study of a tax measure planned to vie with the republican caucus proposal.

The exact nature of the proposed measure is not known, although it is understood the authors have been following generally the government's recommendation for an income tax bill.

Consideration was given other phases of the democratic program and a report made that it had progressed not. The direst primary measure has been introduced and is slated, to pass the senate with republican support, an old age pension bill has been entered in the house, initiative and referendum amendments have been offered in the senate, a registration bill has been introduced, and a no-partisan judiciary measure is being drawn up for early introduction.

ASK EXPLANATION FOR BUTLER'S TALK

Italian Ambassador Says General's Remark Was Untrue.

WASHINGTON, Jan. 27. (AP)—A formal demand by the Italian government for an explanation of a recent speech he made in Philadelphia had passed tonight through the regular channels to Major General Smedley D. Butler of the marine corps.

In it lay a possibility that the American government might make a formal apology to Italy.

Butler at Quantico, Va., where he is commandant of the marine corps, declined today to comment on the newest storm to arise in his path.

The formal protest came from Ambassador De Martino of Italy on the grounds that the remarks Butler is said to have made were derogatory to Mussolini. The ambassador described them as "untrue and slanderous."

The Italian ambassador protested to the state department after he had been informed that General Butler had quoted Premier Mussolini as saying "What is one life in the affairs of the state" after the premier's automobile had struck a child.

The department assured the ambassador the affair would be investigated and later Secretary Stimson discussed it with Secretary Adams, whose department has charge of the marine corps.

JOBLESS INCREASE IN UNITED STATES

WASHINGTON, Jan. 27. (AP)—William Green, president of the American Federation of Labor, estimated today that 7,500,000 wage earners were idle early in January as compared with 5,500,000 in December.

The figures did not include farm labor or office labor, he said.

At the same time the federation head warned against employers dropping completely wage earners who have been given part time employment.

He said the unemployment increase was attributable largely to complete layoff instead of part-time work.

DEFENSE RESTS IN CHELAN CASE

SPOKANE, Jan. 27. (AP)—After seven character witnesses had testified as to the reputation of former Sheriff Pete Wheller of Chelan county the defense rested today in the trial of Wheeler and seven others on a liquor conspiracy charge.

The government began rebuttal testimony. J. J. Buckley testified he did not learn until a month later about the escape of "Jug" Chapman, alleged Wenatchee bootlegger, from Wheeler's custody. He said his first knowledge of the escape came February 1, 1930, when a Wenatchee newspaper reporter chided him for not having told the man about the escape.

LOST FLIER MAY BE NEAR PRIEST RIVER

New Field of Search for Missing Pilot May be Opened.

SPOKANE, Jan. 27. (AP)—Receipt of a report from Priest River that a plane was seen there about noon last Thursday may open a new field for the quest of Walter E. Case, missing air mail pilot, for whom a search by air and on the ground has been conducted for six days.

Nick Mamer, head of the Mamer Air Transport, said he may fly over the heavily timbered region tomorrow. Mamer was told tonight by J. C. Thompson of Priest River that he and three others had seen a plane through a rift in the clouds about noon Thursday, the day Case disappeared on his flight to Pasco.

Search Near Goldendale.

PORTLAND, Jan. 27. (AP)—Varney Air Line officials said today they believed Walter E. Case would be found somewhere within a radius of 50 miles of Goldendale, Wash.

Many theories have been advanced. The most reliable report, Varney officials said, came from Goldendale where it was reported Case had been seen at 10:45 a. m. Thursday. He circled the field there but apparently decided not to land because of the muddy condition of the field. Then he sped away to the east.

SAYS KLAN PAPERS LOST ELECTION

WASHINGTON, Jan. 27. (AP)—Testimony that circulation in Kentucky last fall of special editions of the Fellowship Forum, Ku Klux Klan, newspaper, cost former republican Senator Robsion the election in that state, was given before the senate campaign funds committee today by Gordon Huff, Louisville newspaper man.

Huff, who served as director of publicity for the republican state central committee during the election, said 100,000 copies of a special Kentucky edition of the Forum were received at state committee headquarters, but were considered by all the republican leaders "so bad" that 40,000 copies were burned before the election and 30,000 afterward.

NO MOTIVE FOR SUICIDE FOUND

JERSEY CITY, N. J., Jan. 27. (AP)—In a letter written by Edward I. Edwards, former United States senator and governor of New Jersey, before he shot himself Sunday night no explanation of his suicide was found today.

The note was discovered on a dresser in the room in which he fired the fatal shot. It was addressed to his daughter, Elizabeth, and his son, Edward Jr., and directed their attention to his insurance papers and business affairs. It closed: "Goodbye—Dad."

PROHIBITION IS PUSHED ASIDE BY LAWMAKERS

Congress Glad to Sidetrack Dry-Wet Issue and Take up Matter of Appropriations.

WASHINGTON, Jan. 27. (AP)—Congress put prohibition aside today and worked on the appropriation bills that must be passed before the March 4 adjournment.

The senate seemed more than ready to sidetrack this subject to take up the war department supply measure.

Democratic cooperation came forward to help the administration leaders in getting up the vital army appropriation measure, one of those which must be passed if the extra session is to be avoided.

The Howell bill, intended to help dry up the Capitol city, went on the shelf. Its chances for immediate consideration tonight appeared slim.

Billion Dollar Bill.

The house passed the $1,000,000,000 independent offices appropriation measure after a day of debate. It contains the funds for the new power commission.

Representative LaGuardia (Rep., N. Y.) offered an amendment to withhold the salaries of the commissioners pending a settlement of the dispute between President Hoover and the senate on their right to office. His proposal was voted down.

Committees continued hearings already begun and started new ones. Brigadier General Frank P. Hines, administrator of veterans affairs, elaborated on testimony that cash payments of veterans' compensation certificates would cost more than $2,000,000,000.

Charge Delays.

Charges were repeated the administration supporters are delaying the $25,000,000 drouth relief bill. The administration is opposed to the provision.

Chairman McPhadden of the house banking committee went over to the senate side and told its banking committee it appeared there were resignations to enable Eugene Meyer Jr. to be named governor of the federal reserve board. His confirmation was before the committee. Denials were received that Edmond Clapp, former vice governor of the board, had quit to make way for Meyer.

The senate campaign funds committee was told by Gordon Huff, a Louisville paper man, that in his opinion circulation of copies of a clan paper in Kentucky was made by the former Senator Robinson, republican.

A renewed attempt to get an agreement on Muscle Shoals failed.

SAYS BOARD LOANED TO WINE PRODUCERS

WASHINGTON, Jan. 27. (AP)—The farm board was assailed in the house today as being extravagant in its farm relief activities as an appropriation of $100,000,000 to complete its $500,000,000 revolving fund was approved.

Representative Stafford (Rep., Wis.) charged the board with having loaned $17,000,000 to the "California wine growers" and asserted that its members knew it was to be used "illegally" to permit the flooding of the country with millions of barrels of grape concentrates.

WOULD MAINTAIN COURT BRANCHES

LEWISTON, Idaho, Jan. 27. (AP)—A resolution was passed unanimously by the Nez Perce County Bar association tonight instructing the secretary to get in touch with legislators from the northern counties in an effort to frustrate a movement to discontinue the branches of the state supreme court now being held at Lewiston, Coeur d'Alene and Pocatello.

Should the legislative plan be successful the supreme coudt would sit only at Boise.

TYDINGS SEEKS TO INVESTIGATE REPORT

Introduces Resolution to Reveal Evidence in Wickersham Report.

WASHINGTON, Jan. 27. (AP)—The senate was asked today by Senator Tydings to call on the law enforcement commission for the evidence by which it based its prohibition findings.

The Maryland anti-prohibitionist introduced a resolution requesting the commission to turn over to the senate testimony it took at inquiries together with reports of investigators.

Chairman Norris, of the judiciary committee, who opposed the attempt of Tydings to investigate the commission, had declared himself in favor of the resolution.

The commission held its prohibition hearings in secret. It would be excused by Tydings from transmitting secret testimony which was given under pledge.

Mitchell in Squabble.

WASHINGTON, Jan. 27. (AP)—A controversy between Attorney General Mitchell and Senator Schall, over the appointment of a federal judge in Minnesota, today broke into the open.

The attorney general, a native of Minnesota, said it should be "understood one and for all" he could not recommend to President Hoover the appointment of Ernest A. Mitchell, Minneapolis lawyer recommended by Schall, a republican senator from that state.

The blind senator immediately replied he would not withdraw his endorsement. He said Motchell had been endorsed by the entire Minnesota delegation in congress.

Feelings of Convicts Hurt By Searching

OSSINING, New York, Jan. 27.—There's a crook in Sing Sing.

Somebody, between last Saturday and today, stole $200 from the safe of the confidential secretary to the warden of the penitentiary.

What particularly riled the convicts was the fact that they were compelled to submit to search and questioning just like common thieves.

Many protest searching, saying it reflected on their integrity.

SOUTHERN MEXICO FEARS DISASTER

MEXICO CITY, Jan. 27. (AP)—The past weeks have brought to almost every part of southern Mexico circumstances and events which many Mexicans regard as ominous and portentous of disaster.

Ometepec, in the state of Guerrero, yesterday experienced an unusually violent storm accompanied by an extravagantly colored sky of jet black clouds and deep red background. The storm was followed by a light earthquake and the inhabitants were left with mingled awe and terror.

Near the volcano Orzaba inhabitants are badly frightened by almost continual subterranean rumblings. Along the Oaxacan coast the ground has opened in great cracks from which salt water has emerged.

CHARGE WEST POINT SUBSIDIZED PLAYERS

Army Officials Deny Any Attempts Made to Recruit Star.

NEW YORK, Jan. 27. (AP)—A charge that the military academy at West Point attempted to "recruit" Kenneth Goff, star fullback of the Rhode Island State football team, was made in a copyrighted story in the Providence, R. I., Bulletin today and was promptly denied by West Point officials.

The Bulletin said it possessed correspondence tending to show an attempt to get Goff to seek admission to the academy and that W. T. Wrightson, described as a member of the "Army Athletic association," had tried to secure Goff's appointment for examination in a Massachusetts district in which Goff did not live.

Wrightson was quoted as saying he took the action at the request of Paul Carrol, "manager elect" of the Army football team for 1931.

Major Philip Fleming, graduate manager of athletics at the academy, when told of the charge pointed out Wrightson had no official connection with the organization and said no official had taken or would take any action to recruit a college football player.

SEVEN YOUTHS FLEE STATE REFORMATORY

Escape While Negroes and Whites Engage in Racial Argument.

TRENTON, Jan. 27. (AP)—While a free-for-all fight raged in a cottage at the Annedale state reformatory tonight, half a dozen youthful prisoners made a successful break for liberty.

A fight, of almost riot proportions, in the building was started among 50 or 60 negro and white inmates. At least a dozen suffered minor hurts.

State police were called.

The inmates ranged from 16 to 24 years old. They batled with fists and other handy weapons, but no gunplay was reported. There is no wall around the institution and when several broke away from the fight they dashed out of the grounds.

Around midnight, the superintendent reported quiet was restored.

The trouble was apparently started by a racial argument.

INDICT SEVEN FOR KILLING BUCKLEY

DETROIT, Jan. 27. (AP)—A blanket indictment charging six men and a woman with the slaying of Jerry Buckley, radio political commentator, was returned today by the Wayne county grand jury, which has been investigating the killing and other crimes for five months.

Those named in the indictment were Ted Pizzino, Joseph Bommarito, and Angelo Livecchi, who are in jail here; Pete Licovoli, who has been sought unsuccessfully since Buckley was shot to death July 23, and two men and a woman whose names were not disclosed.

RAILROAD BILL TO BE PLACED BEFORE SENATE

Would Fix the Minimum Number in Crews Handling Trains of Specified Lengths.

BOISE, Jan. 27. (AP)—A bill sponsored by the four railroad brotherhoods, fixing a minimum number on the crew to handle trains of specified lengths has been prepared for introduction in the senate tomorrow.

It will be introduced by Senator Hunt of Bannock, who discussed the measure today.

It provides no train shall consist of more than 70 cars, the limit which the railroad men said one engineer could handle efficiently. I. C. Griffiths, of the Brotherhood of Railroad Trainmen, explained the bill was in reality a safety measure both to the trainmen and to the produce being handled.

Other railroad men stated fruit and vegetables as well as livestock are injured when long trains are stopped and started under the irregular braking action of air brakes. Other western states have similar laws in effect, the railroad men explained.

Want Park Report.

BOISE, Jan. 27. (AP)—The state senate today passed a memorial asking the president to make public the report of the national parks boundary commission, which a year ago completed a study of a proposed Idaho entrance into Yellowstone National park and the feasibility of Beckler Basin and neighboring areas as storage reservoirs. Bechler basin extends into the park area.

Representative Coulter of Valley county and Stewart of Bannock, democrats, introduced a resolution in the house asking the veterans' bureau to establish at Lava Hot Springs, Idaho, one of the sanatariums authorized by congress for the benefit of former service men.

The resolution pointed out the place is noted for its hot mineral springs in use for their therapeutic value.

Important Things.

BURLEY, Idaho, Jan. 27. (AP)—Governor C. Ben Ross told the convention of the Idaho state grange today that he considered taxation and markets the "two important things in Idaho."

"I think everyone is of one mind," he said, "that we need a distribution of the tax burden so every citizen, corporation and individual will carry his just share of this burden.

"Since we all agree on that should be done the only question left is how to do it. It is true that a class who are not carrying their just share are not anxious to lend a helping hand. In fact it is quite evident that this class is perfectly willing to muddy the water.

"Certain classes have had ample opportunity to lend their efforts in solving the tax questions but have been satisfied to see their fellow men languish under an unjust and unequal burden."

Taking up the market situation, he urged Idahoans to turn their faces to the Pacific coast so shippers can escape the long haul.

A repeated plea contained in Ross' message was that better transportation facilities to put Idaho products on Pacific coast markets would go a long way toward solving the farm produce question in Idaho.

Appropriation Measures.

BOISE, Jan. 27. (AP)—The first two budgetary appropriation measures were introduced in the house today providing for expenses of the offices of governor, lieutenant governor, auditor, treasurer, departments of finance, land and public accounts.

Except for a requested increase of $50,000 in the amount for forest fire protection, most appropriations were about the same as for the last biennium. The fire appropriation would be increased from $100,000 to $150,000 to anticipate needs of the department rather than permitting deficiency bills to be met later by the legislature.

A bill was proposed giving probate judges authority to turn over to the prosecutor delinquents between the ages of 16 and 18 years who are deemed habitual criminals. The only option of the probate judge now is to send them to the industrial school.

Besides the appropriation bills a bill was introduced in the house providing for the licensing of bee keepers.

Primary Bill Delayed.

The direct primary bill failed to come out of committee although it was scheduled for final passage in the senate. The delay was not explained. It was understood negotiations had been made for an amendment aimed to increase "party solidarity."

The amendment provided that if a candidate on either ticket pulled a majority of votes in the primaries he would be declared elected.

The house passed a senate resolu-

HAZARDS OF 'LAB' WORKERS REDUCED

Bureau of Standards Inaugurates Many Improvements to Make Research Safe for Scientists.

WASHINGTON (AP) — Hazards of working conditions have been practically overcome by the bureau of standards in making research safe for its scientists.

Ultra-violet and infra-red rays, X-rays, radium and mercury poisoning are among hazards eliminated in a bureau which employs more than 1000 scientific workers.

Goggles with glasses containing cobalt and ceria protect their wearers from ultra-violet and infra-red rays.

Safes for Radium.

Radium substances are kept in heavy safes when not in use and lead blocks are employed as a screen against the rays when working with radium. The tubes are handled with tongs.

Sensitized protograph film, wrapped in opaque black paper and carried by a worker, tells whether he is being exposed to the dangerous gamma rays. Development of the film denotes exposure.

GRETA GARBO IS STAR IN ROMANCE

In "Romance," Metro-Goldwyn-Mayer's all-talking adaption of the successful Edward Sheldon stage play, which will open at the Grand theatre tonight, Greta Garbo is seen and heard as the alluring foreign opera star whose romance with a clergyman results in a number of extremely dramatic situations.

The Swedish star is more fascinating than ever in curls and crinolines of the period of New York in 1865 while the plot is of the type which gives her a number of opportunities for the exotic love scenes in which she first established her reputation on the silent screen.

The picture is somewhat unusual in containing a prologue and epilogue, the central theme being shown in a flashback as a bishop tells his grandson the story of his youthful love affairs in the hope that it will prevent the boy from marrying an actress.

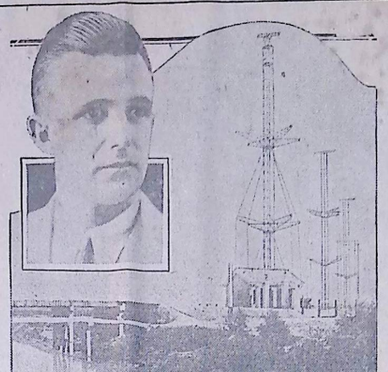
Radio Puts China in Direct Contact With World



The pagoda-like construction of the antenna towers of the new Chinese radio station at Shanghai was adopted to give strength to the steel masts. George F. Sheckler (inset), San Francisco, is assisting in the operation of the station.

SHANGHAI (AP)—Radio has at last put China into direct and instantaneous communication with the rest of the world.

Through transmission service at 100 words per minute has already been started between this city and San Francisco. Within a few weeks similar contacts are to be made with Berlin, Paris, London and other capitals of the world.

Establishment of the Shanghai international radio station at Chenju, a suburb, has made this feat possible.

Like other enterprises still new to China, construction of the station and its eventual opening was by no means rapid. Ceremonies attending the opening were preceded by two years of negotiations, hard work and various obstacles to be overcome.

A week before the final tests had been completed the Japanese government filed a formal complaint against the new enterprise. It was based on a treaty signed by the Japanese and the old Peking government granting the Japanese a monopoly on wireless stations operating in China with the outside world. It caused some apprehension for a time.

Plans for the station were formulated two years ago when the Nanking government began to take radio seriously. However, it was not until ten months ago that actual construction was started.

Approximately $800,000 was appropriated, most of this sum being spent for American equipment, with some apparatus purchased in France and Germany.

Installation work was supervised by Cecil Bailey, RCA engineer, who is remaining in China for a few months to help direct operations. George F. Sheckler of San Francisco, who has spent two years in China in connection with the radio plant, has accepted a post with the government in an advisory capacity and will assist in the operation of the station.

The transmitter is located in Chenju, within a short distance of the business district of Shanghai. The main receiver is in the nearby suburb of Liuhong; with two smaller receiving stations in other sections of the city.

ANTLERS TO BE INSTITUTED SOON

Between 25 and 30 boys are expected to join the Antlers, Junior Elks lodge, which will be instituted at a special meeting of the Elks lodge Thursday evening, according to Jack E Coulter, member of the advisory council and chairman of the organization committee, who spoke to a group of boys in the high school Tuesday afternoon. Approximately 30 application blanks were distributed and all the boys indicated their intention of becoming charter members. The Thursday night meeting is expected to get under way at 8 o'clock and all members of the lodge are urged to attend.

BOGOTA SOON TO REVIVE BULL FIGHTS IN BIG RING

BOGOTA, Colombia (AP) —Promises that bullfighting on the grand Spanish scale will be revived in Bogota shortly have created much public enthusiasm.

A government ban on the use of horses in the ring has been removed and local promoters are importing six Spanish matadors. A bull ring with 15,000 spectator capacity is ready. It includes an infirmary for injured bullfighters.

Under the new regulations horsemen will be used to weaken the bull by goades to a point where the matador will have a chance for his life.

Yields to Parental Persuasion and Goes Into Business; Two From Family Enough on Stage.

ATLANTA. (AP)—George Jolson, Al's younger brother, has yielded to parental persuasion and is going into business.

George, who has a smile as broad as that of his famous brother, was found recently in a corner drug store in Atlanta mixing powders and pills and waiting on customers.

Harry Jolson, another brother, left home and broke into a theatrical career over parental objections. Al did likewise.

Although displaying some talent of his own, George had another purpose in mind when he left home.

On Pleasure Trip.

"I came down here on a sort of pleasure trip," explained the young pharmacist. "You know how it is with a young fellow. He wants to get out and see something of the world.

"I studied pharmacy in college, and while down here I decided to take the Georgia pharmacy board's examination. I passed it, and I have had my job a month. It was pater's idea that I ought to go into business, and I guess he is right. Anyway, I like business."

George admits that he can "dance and sing a bit," and that some appearances in college shows brought him "attractive offers" to go on the stage.

Large Family.

"But Al and Harry are enough in one family," he says.

There are five brothers and three sisters in the Jolson family. The father, M. R. Jolson of Washington, D. C., is a former rabbi and now a wealthy real estate owner. One brother, "Mike," has displayed talent as a radio singer.

Using the extension service formula, C. P. Hilburn of Bladen county, N. C., produced 1388 pounds of tobacco on an acre which sold for $213.12.

THE MANIKIN PARADE

Opening day in the grand salon of one of the fashionable Parisian dressmaking shops. Dazzling lights, gorgeous draperies, gilded chairs, flashing jewels . . . Behind the miniature stage a bevy of beautiful manikins—in velvet, satin, chiffon and lace. The curtains part. One by one they emerge, pirouette, descend the steps—and bfore you sweeps a magnificent array of the latest fashions!

Perhaps it has never been your god fortune to witness one of these affairs. But the imaginative mind need not go to such distant places to learn what is new and charming in the world of personal adornment . . . or what is useful and modern for the home . . . or tasty and wholesome for the table.

Let the day's advertisements pass in review! For in word and picture they, like manikins, display before you the latest and best things from the realm of merchandise.

Studying the advertisements is not only very interesting, but it enables you to shop with greater assurance of getting exactly what you want—and the greatest value for your money!

Jack Sharkey, the Teuton slugger declared, has only himself to blame for his failure to get the heavyweight title shot this summer. I tried to swing the subject into baseball, pointing out to him that it was what "his public" expected at this time of year, but the $80,000-a-year man of baseball persisted in giving me the gruesome details of his sensational 78 on the St. Albans course the day before.

"With six three-putts greens, too!" he roared then pinning me helplessly in my chair: "On in two at that 535-yarder—two dasies—and putting for an eagle. Missed it. Knew that touch third hole? Shoved one clear over the trees to the green, good 200-yard shot, after hooking into a bad spot."

Babe Ruth grew reminiscent.

"Say, when I was a young fellow, I went 72 holes of golf in one day with a friend of mine, baseball player, think his name was Penner, pitcher. It was out in California. We started about 5 in the morning and then ran between every shot."

I semed perhaps a trifle skeptical, but he persisted: "Fact. Young fella then. Could stand it. Got a little tired, though, late in the afternoon. Good way to get in condition. Couldn't do it now, though. Getting too old."

Still not much prospect of talking baseball, but we finally did get the conversation into boxing.

"Dempsey's about your age now. Think he could come back and fight again successfully?" I asked the Babe.

"Maybe. He's laid off a long time, though. I couldn't stay away from baseball that long and be able to do anything. Sure would like to see that old boy sock again.

"I had breakfast with Dempsey the morning after he fought Firpo. Say, he told me never was socked so hard in his life. Firpo's first punch ruined him. Told me he didn't remember much of anything about the rest of that first round. And what a round."

Lee Keyser of Des Moines may have given night baseball the boost that got it going in a big way last year but my friend, Jimmie Heffron of the Anaheim (California) Bulletin helps to keep the record of evening performances clear with the following:

"The first night football game played on the Pacific coast was between the Anaheim and Downey high school lightweight teams, Thursday, November 1, 1928, Anaheim won, 31 to 0. The attendance was 5000 and admission free.

"The game was played on an improvised gridiron in the city park. It was arranged by this writer and Paul Demarcs, coach of the high school team, as one of the attractions in connection with the Hallowe'en fete.

"We have played a California brand of night ball for the past six years. The game is an outgrowth of indoor and playground ball. It outdraws all other sports in southern California; even football, in the smaller towns."

CELLO DEFEATS BLOOM

INDIANAPOLIS, Ja. 27.n (AP)—Tommy Cello, Chicago lightweight, easily defeated Lou Bloom, of Columbus, Ohio, in a 10-round bout here tonight. Cello led all the way and scored one knockdown for the count of nine and two more, each for nine counts in the final round.

TEACHER MAPS OUT CLUES TO TREASURE

Charts and Practical Leads to Buried Gold Are Included in Texas Professor's Book.

AUSTIN, Tex. (AP)—Treasure hunters in the southwest usually write first to J. Frank Dobie, if they don't visit his Austin home, to inquire about charts and practical leads.

No treasure hunter is Dobie, but professor of English in the University of Texas.

Yet he has become a foremost authority on the legends of this big stretch of caballero land, shot with tales of buried gold, lost mines and pioneer plainsmen.

Now his treasure lore is to be published in a book, "Coronado's Children."

Raised on Ranch.

Dobie is the 42-year-old son of a trail driver and a school teacher, and he grew up on a ranch in the vast brush country of Live Oak county, Texas, where droves of wild turkeys used to graze in the dense thickets up close to the school house.

He learned to love poetry at Southwestern university at Georgetown, Texas, and thought that if he could be an English teacher he'd have a chance to indulge that love. But before he started teaching, he was a newspaper reporter in San Antonio, writing about the small excitements of a city.

His professional career has been an off-and-on affair. He quit in 1920 to manage a big ranch in three counties of the brush country between Nueces river and the Rio Grande for his Uncle Jim Dobie, an old-time cowman.

Leave of Absence.

He has taken leaves of absence for his writing, and is on one now while he gathers lore of the ranges and folk of Texas, with support of the Laura Spelman Rockefeller foundation fund.

When he returned to the university in 1921, from ranching, he helped revive the Texas Folk-Lore society.

"Never a week goes by that some party does not call personally to see or write me concerning the Lost Bowie mine, or some other hidden lode," he says.

"The ordinary man wants to run away from machinery and the plow-horse routine. He want to be pointed to the rainbow's end."

FORTY CENT WHEAT

"With increasing acreage in America and Russia," says Hickman Price, extensive land owner in the southwest, "wheat may soon be 50 cents a bushel. Last year I raised it for 40 cents a bushel and expect to cut that cost."—The Country Home.

"I Hope Your Example Will Compel The Adoption Of Sanitary Methods"

Says

DR. THOS. J. McLAUGHLIN

Chairman State Board of Health, State of Rhode Island

STATE BOARD OF MEDICAL REGISTRATION

Rhode Island
Public Health Commission

THOMAS J. McLAUGHLIN, M. D.

The American Cigar Company,
511 Fifth Avenue,
New York, N. Y.

WOONSOCKET, May 21st, 1930.

Gentlemen:-

Permit me to commend you for your crusade against the old-fashioned method of cigar making which involved the use of "spit" or "saliva." There are many unsanitary processes still employed in industry which are very difficult to eliminate without the aid of industry itself.

Not only the public officer charged with the responsibility of improving conditions of health generally but every one immediately recognizes that the use of "spit" in the manufacture of cigars is not only unsanitary but has latent dangers to health of great magnitude. I feel it incumbent upon myself, therefore, as a public officer charged with protecting the public health to use this means of telling you that in campaigning against such a method of manufacture you are rendering a public service.

I sincerely hope that your example and your campaign will compel the abandonment of such methods of manufacture of cigars by the industry generally and the adoption by all of the manufacturers of sanitary methods in the manufacture of cigars.

You are at liberty to use this expression of my commendation in the furtherance of your laudable campaign for better sanitation.

Yours very truly,
Thos. J. McLaughlin, M.D.
Chairman State Board of Health
State of Rhode Island.

...one of 56 health officials from 56 different points approving Cremo's crusade against spit or spit-tipping.

Every smoker, every wife whose husband smokes cigars, should read Dr. McLaughlin's letter.

"Who are the friends of 'Spit'?"

YOU MAY WELL ASK THIS QUESTION WHEN 56 IMPORTANT HEALTH OFFICIALS HAVE WRITTEN SO STRONGLY AGAINST THE EVILS OF SPIT OR SPIT-TIPPING.

Dr. McLaughlin writes: "Permit me to commend you for your crusade against the old-fashioned method of cigar making which involved the use of 'spit'."

The war against spit is a crusade of decency. Join it...Smoke Certified Cremo – a really wonderful smoke – mild – mellow – nut-sweet! Every leaf entering the clean, sunny Cremo factories is scientifically treated by methods recommended by the United States Department of Agriculture.

In this period of cold weather and cracked lips, above all insist on a cigar—free of the spit germ.
